

GUAM

Introduction

Acquisition by United States.—The island of Guam was ceded by Spain to the United States under the terms of the treaty of Paris, signed December 10, 1898, and ratified in April 1899.

Location and area.—Guam, the southernmost and largest of the Marianas Islands, lies in the West Pacific Ocean, approximately 1,500 miles east of Manila and about 3,300 miles from Honolulu in a direction somewhat south of west. Its area is 206 square miles.

Earlier censuses.—Local censuses of population were taken by the naval governors in 1901 and 1910. Federal censuses of population were taken in 1920, 1930, and 1940; of livestock, in 1920; and of agriculture (crops and livestock), in 1930 and 1940. The field work on each of these Federal censuses was done under the supervision of the naval governor in accordance with plans prescribed by the Director of the Census. Capt. James T. Alexander, United States Navy, who was the Governor in April 1940, was in charge of the Sixteenth Census canvass of Guam.

POPULATION

NUMBER AND DISTRIBUTION

Table 1 shows the population growth of Guam from census to census since 1901, and of Agaña city since 1920, the earliest year for which data are available; table 2 gives municipality totals for 1940 in comparison with 1930; and table 3 presents the 1940 figures for barrios and other minor civil divisions.

TABLE 1.—POPULATION OF GUAM, 1901 TO 1940, AND OF AGAÑA CITY, 1920 TO 1940

<sup>1</sup> The difference between the sum of the 1930 figures in this table (17,301) and the 1930 total for Guam as given in table 1 (18,500) is due to the inclusion, in the total in table 1, of 1,118, the number of persons enumerated on U. S. naval reservations, etc. (See footnote 2, table 1.) These persons were not included in the population of any municipality.

<sup>15</sup> Represents increase from 1,200 to 1,784, not including 213 reported on naval vessels.

(See note 14.)

COMPOSITION AND CHARACTERISTICS

Definitions

This section presents statistics for the population of Guam, classified according to sex, race, nativity, age, school attendance, literacy, ability to speak English, family relationship, tenure of homes, marital status, and place of birth, and includes occupation statistics for gainfully employed persons.

Race.—The population of Guam is classified according to race as (1) Chamorro, (2) white, (3) Filipino, (4) Japanese, (5) Chinese, and (6) Negro. A person of mixed white and nonwhite blood is classified as of the race of the nonwhite parent; a person whose parents were of different nonwhite races other than Negro is classified as of the race of the father; and a person having any Negro blood, on either the paternal or the maternal side, is classified as Negro.

Age.—The age classification is based on the age at the last birthday prior to April 1, 1940. Thus a person who was born on April 1, 1910, was classified in the 25-29 age group, since he was 29 years old on his last birthday prior to April 1, 1940. Similarly, an infant born on April 1, 1939, was classified as under 1 year of age.

School attendance.—The school-attendance figures in table 7, for persons 5 to 24 years of age, refer to persons who, at any time within the month of March 1940, attended or were enrolled in vocational schools, or in public, private, or parochial grade schools, or in any other units of the regular school system. The figures in table 8 for persons 25 years of age and older represent the numbers of years of attendance in any of these classes of schools.

Illiteracy.—For census purposes, all persons 10 years of age and older who are unable to read and write any language (not necessarily English) are classified as "illiterate." The enumerators were instructed to report all persons who had attended school 4 years or more as able to read and write; in the cases of persons who had attended school less than 4 years, to inquire specifically as to their ability to read and write; and to report as illiterate all persons who were able to read but were not able to write.

The instructions in effect in 1930 were less specific, but the enumerators were cautioned not to report a person as literate simply because he was able to write his name. Possibly because of this change in the instructions, the Sixteenth Census enumerators appear to have been somewhat more conservative than the Fifteenth Census enumerators in their interpretation of the illiteracy question; and as a result the 1940 percentage of illiteracy for the 10-to-20-year age group in the Chamorro population and for both age groups in the Filipino and Chinese populations are higher than the corresponding percentages for 1930. As it seems unlikely that the degrees of illiteracy in these elements of the population were actually lower in 1930 than in 1940, no comparative figures for the earlier year are given in table 9.

Nativity.—All persons born within the present limits of the 48 States, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands of the United States, the Panama Canal Zone, the Philippine Islands, Guam, and American Samoa (including persons born in these areas prior to their acquisition by the United States) are classified as "native," and all others are classified as "foreign-born." Persons born at sea or in foreign countries, of parents who were citizens of the United States, are classified as "native."

Family relationship.—The term "private family" is used to designate—

(1) A group consisting of husband and wife, or husband, wife, and children, or husband, wife, children, and other relatives, or any other group of persons related by blood or by marriage, living together as a single household.

(2) A group consisting in part of related persons and in part of other persons, such as lodgers (not exceeding four in number), servants, etc., living together as a single household.

(3) A person living alone.

(4) Two or more persons, not related by blood or by marriage and not members of a "quasi-family group," who live together as a single household.

The head of the family is the person regarded as such by the members of the family—whether husband or father, widow, or unmarried person of either sex. A person living alone is classified, for census purposes, as the head of a family.

The term "quasi-family group" is applied to a group of persons living in a hotel, or in a lodginghouse having five or more lodgers, or in the dormitory of an educational institution, or in a prison or a jail, or in an almshouse, a hospital, or other institution in which the inmates are likely to remain for considerable periods of time; or to the personnel of a military post or a naval station, or the members of a camp or barracks of laborers.

Home tenure.—The figures for home tenure relate to "private families," and do not include data for the home tenure of "quasi-family groups."

Occupations of gainfully employed persons.—All persons (including those temporarily unemployed at the time the census was taken) who usually work for pay (in the form of salaries, wages, fees, commissions, etc.) or for profit (in their own businesses, professions, etc., or on farms that they own or rent) are classified as "gainfully employed." Persons engaged in unpaid family labor—e. g., women doing housework in their own homes and children working at home on general household work or chores—are not thus classified.

AGRICULTURE

DEFINITIONS AND EXPLANATIONS

Definition of "farm."—The term "farm," as used in this report, relates to any parcel or parcels of land—regardless of size and of value of production—on which crops were grown by one person, either alone or with the aid of members of his household or of hired help.

Census dates.—The figures for crops relate to the calendar year 1939; those for livestock on hand, to the date April 1, 1940.

Agricultural conditions.<sup>1</sup>—Agriculture is the chief industry of Guam. About one-half of the surface of the island is suitable for cropland and pasture, but as the layer of soil over the coral limestone is very shallow, part of the arable land can be worked only with hand tools. Practically every Chamorro family has its own "ranch," even though the head of the family is engaged primarily in some occupation other than farming. (For this reason the number of farms, 2,529, is considerably in excess of the number of farm owners and tenants, 1,950, as given in table 16 of the Population report.) Everything necessary to sustain life can thus be produced by each family, and a cash income can be obtained from the production and sale of copra (the dried meat of the coconut) from the coconuts grown throughout the island. This is exported for the extraction of the oil and is the chief commercial product of Guam.

Formerly the United States Department of Agriculture gave much assistance to the natives in developing and improving their agriculture, by the distribution of seeds and plants and the introduction of superior breeds of livestock, by instructions as to the control and eradication of plant and animal pests, and by studies of the potentialities of local soils and the adaptability of exotic plants to local conditions. In 1932 this work was taken over by the naval government of Guam, and has since been continued under its direction. The results of this assistance have been more diversified farming, improved crops, and larger yields.

Livestock.—Livestock was reported for 79 households which did not operate farms. On the other hand, no livestock was reported for 249 of the 2,450 farms. As a result, the number of places reporting livestock (2,280, as given in table 8) is not identical with the number of farms.
