FINAL POPULATION COUNTS

November 15, 1960

PC(A1)-1

United States

(These figures supersede the preliminary counts for the same areas published in the PC(P1) series of reports. The present series consists of 52 reports—one each for the United States, 50 States, and the District of Columbia—which are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication. As of this date, 23 of the State reports have been published. The reports for the remaining States will be published within the next several weeks.)

The population of the United States increased by a record 28 million in the 10 years ending April 1, 1960, according to the final count of the returns of the 1960 Census of Population. This increase exceeded the former all-time record for the previous decade by 8.8 million (table 1).

The final total for the 50 States and the District of Columbia is 179,323,175 as against a final population count of 151,325,798 for 1950. The 1960 total does not include members of the Armed Forces and their dependents living abroad, crews of American vessels at sea or in foreign ports, and American citizens living in foreign countries. Neither does it include the inhabitants of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and other outlying areas under the American flag.

APPORTIONMENT

Table 3 presents the current membership of the House of Representatives and the apportionment of 435 members based on the results of the 1960 Census. Membership was increased temporarily to 437 with the admission of Alaska and Hawaii as States. According to present legislation, membership will revert to 435.

In the absence of Congressional action to the contrary, the apportionment based on the 1960 Census will result in gains in the delegations of 9 States and losses in those of 16 States. The largest gains are scheduled for California, eight seats, and Florida, four seats. Other States standing to gain are New Jersey, Ohio, Michigan, Maryland, Texas, Arizona, and Hawaii. The largest loss, three seats, is scheduled for Pennsylvania. States which will lose two seats are Massachusetts, New York, and Arkansas.

REGIONS

As in the previous decade, the West led the regions in both the amount and rate of growth (table 2). The population of the West increased by 7.9 million, or 38.9 percent. The West was the only region in which the rate of growth was greater than the 18.5 percent increase for the Nation as a whole. The most populous region, the South, ranked second in the amount of growth--7.8 million--and its rate of growth--16.5 percent--was slightly higher than that of the North Central Region. Gains of 7.2 and 5.2 million were recorded in the North Central Region and the Northeast, respectively. The latter region had the smallest rate of gain--13.2 percent.

DIVISIONS

The two divisions in the West--Pacific and Mountain--led the divisions in the rates of growth, with increases of 40.2 and 35.1 percent, respectively. The Pacific Division also had the largest absolute increase--6.1 million. The 5.8 million gain for the East North Central States was second to that of the Pacific States. This division and the South Atlantic were the only divisions other than those in the West which had a rate of growth in excess of that for the Nation.

STATES

The final counts for the States show that New York continues to be the most populous and Alaska the least populous State (table 4). The nine highest ranking States in 1960 were New York, California, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Texas, Michigan, New Jersey, and Massachusetts. These States were also the highest ranking in the same order in 1950. Florida, however, advanced from the 20th State in order of population size to the 10th State, and there were some additional minor changes ranking among other States.

California surpassed all the States in the amount of growth since 1950 (table 5). The 5.1 million gain for this State accounted for nearly one-fifth of the increase for the United States. Second to California in the amount of growth was Florida, with an increase of 2.2 million. Other States with gains of more than 1 million were New York, Texas, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, and New Jersey. Eight States had increases of 500,000 to 1 million. These 16 States accounted for 22.1 million, or four-fifths of the increase for the Nation as a whole. On the other hand, two States--Arkansas and West Virginia--and the District of Columbia lost population. The population of Mississippi remained practically unchanged--2,178,141 in 1960 as compared with 2,178,914 in 1950.

Florida had the largest rate of growth--78.7 percent. Three additional States--Nevada, Alaska, and Arizona--had increases in excess of 70 percent, and 15 additional States, including Hawaii, our newest State, grew at a more rapid rate than the country as a whole.

ADVANCE REPORTS

FINAL POPULATION COUNTS

November 8, 1960

PC(AL)-2

Alabama

(These figures supersede the preliminary counts for the same areas published in the PC(P1) and PC(P2) series of reports. The present series consists of 52 reports--one each for the United States, 50 States, and the District of Columbia--which are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication)

The official population count of the State as of April 1, 1960, was 3,266,740. This is a gain of 204,997, or 6.7 percent, over the 3,061,743 inhabitants of the State in 1950.

This report presents final 1960 Population Census statistics on the number of inhabitants of the State and its counties or comparable areas. In addition, figures are given for census county divisions, incorporated or unincorporated places, and for the population of the State and its counties classified by urban-rural residence. Comparable figures from earlier censuses appear in Volume I of the reports of the 1950 Census of Population.

The figures shown here are being issued in advance of their publication in Final Report PC(1)-2A, which will provide additional information on the number and geographic distribution of the inhabitants of this State. The final report will be issued within the next few months.

An outline of the 1960 Population Census publication program may be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D.C., or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

Urban-rural residence.--According to the definition adopted for use in the 1960 Census, the urban population comprises all persons living in (a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, boroughs, villages, and towns (except towns in New England, New York, and Wisconsin); (b) the densely settled urban fringe, whether incorporated or unincorporated, of urbanized areas (see next paragraph); (c) towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania which contain no incorporated municipalities as subdivisions and have either 25,000 inhabitants or more or a population of 2,500 to 25,000 and a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; (d) counties in States other than the New England States, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania that have no incorporated municipalities within their boundaries and have a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; and (e) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more. The population not classified as urban constitutes the rural population.

Urbanized areas.--An urbanized area contains at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more and the surrounding closely settled area, whether incorporated or unincorporated, that meets specified criteria relating to land use or population density. There are a few urbanized areas where there are "twin central cities" that have a combined population of at least 50,000.

Census county divisions.--For purposes of presenting census statistics, counties in 18 States have been subdivided into statistical areas, which are called census county divisions (CCD's). These divisions are used instead of the election precincts, townships, and other minor civil divisions for which population statistics were previously reported. The CCD's were established because the boundaries of the minor civil divisions in these States, which were observed in previous censuses, changed frequently or were difficult to identify. CCD's were defined with boundaries that will seldom require changes and that can be easily located.

Places.--The term "place" as used in reports of the population censuses refers to a concentration of population, regardless of the existence of legally prescribed limits, powers, or functions. Most of the places listed are incorporated as cities, towns, villages, or boroughs, however. In addition, unincorporated places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are also presented. The towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania recognized as urban are also counted as places.

Incorporated places.--Political units recognized as incorporated places in the reports of the census are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages with the exception that towns are not recognized as incorporated places in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin.

Unincorporated places.--As in the 1950 Census, the Bureau has delineated boundaries for densely settled population centers without corporate limits. All such places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are shown in tables 2 and 3.

ADVANCE REPORTS

FINAL POPULATION COUNTS

November 3, 1960

PC(A1)-3

Alaska

(These figures supersede the preliminary counts for the same areas published in the PC(P1) and PC(P2) series of reports. The present series consists of 52 reports--one each for the United States, 50 States, and the District of Columbia--which are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication)

The official population count of the State as of April 1, 1960, was 226,167. This is a gain of 97,524, or 75.8 percent, over the 128,643 inhabitants of the State in 1950.

This report presents final 1960 Population Census statistics on the number of inhabitants of the State and its counties or comparable areas. In addition, figures are given for minor civil divisions, incorporated or unincorporated places, and for the population of the State and its counties classified by urban-rural residence. Comparable figures from earlier censuses appear in Volume I of the reports of the 1950 Census of Population.

The figures shown here are being issued in advance of their publication in Final Report PC(1)-3A, which will provide additional information on the number and geographic distribution of the inhabitants of this State. The final report will be issued within the next few months.

An outline of the 1960 Population Census publication program may be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D.C., or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

Urban-rural residence.--According to the definition adopted for use in the 1960 Census, the urban population comprises all persons living in (a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, boroughs, villages, and towns (except towns in New England, New York, and Wisconsin); (b) the densely settled urban fringe, whether incorporated or unincorporated, of urbanized areas (see next paragraph); (c) towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania which contain no incorporated municipalities as subdivisions and have either 25,000 inhabitants or more or a population of 2,500 to 25,000 and a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; (d) counties in States other than the New England States, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania that have no incorporated municipalities within their boundaries and have a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; and (e) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more. The population not classified as urban constitutes the rural population.

Urbanized areas.--An urbanized area contains at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more and the surrounding closely settled area, whether incorporated or unincorporated, that meets specified criteria relating to land use or population density. There are a few urbanized areas where there are "twin central cities" that have a combined population of at least 50,000.

Minor civil divisions.--To the primary political divisions into which counties or comparable areas are divided, the Bureau applies the general term "minor civil divisions." From State to State they are known variously as townships, towns, judicial districts, election precincts, and the like. In some States, incorporated places are minor civil divisions in their own right and in other States they are subordinate to the minor civil division in which they are located, or the pattern is mixed--some incorporated places are independent minor civil divisions, and others are subordinate to the minor civil division.

Places.--The term "place" as used in reports of the population censuses refers to a concentration of population, regardless of the existence of legally prescribed limits, powers, or functions. Most of the places listed are incorporated as cities, towns, villages, or boroughs, however. In addition, unincorporated places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are also presented. The towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania recognized as urban are also counted as places.

Incorporated places.--Political units recognized as incorporated places in the reports of the census are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages with the exception that towns are not recognized as incorporated places in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin.

Unincorporated places.--As in the 1950 Census, the Bureau has delineated boundaries for densely settled population centers without corporate limits. All such places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are shown in tables 2 and 3.

ADVANCE REPORTS

FINAL POPULATION COUNTS

November 4, 1960

PC(A1)-4

Arizona

(These figures supersede the preliminary counts for the same areas published in the PC(P1) and PC(P2) series of reports. The present series consists of 52 reports--one each for the United States, 50 States, and the District of Columbia--which are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication)

The official population count of the State as of April 1, 1960, was 1,302,161. This is a gain of 552,574, or 73.7 percent, over the 749,587 inhabitants of the State in 1950.

This report presents final 1960 Population Census statistics on the number of inhabitants of the State and its counties or comparable areas. In addition, figures are given for census county divisions, incorporated or unincorporated places, and for the population of the State and its counties classified by urban-rural residence. Comparable figures from earlier censuses appear in Volume I of the reports of the 1950 Census of Population.

The figures shown here are being issued in advance of their publication in Final Report PC(1)-4A, which will provide additional information on the number and geographic distribution of the inhabitants of this State. The final report will be issued within the next few months.

An outline of the 1960 Population Census publication program may be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D.C., or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

Urban-rural residence.--According to the definition adopted for use in the 1960 Census, the urban population comprises all persons living in (a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, boroughs, villages, and towns (except towns in New England, New York, and Wisconsin); (b) the densely settled urban fringe, whether incorporated or unincorporated, of urbanized areas (see next paragraph); (c) towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania which contain no incorporated municipalities as subdivisions and have either 25,000 inhabitants or more or a population of 2,500 to 25,000 and a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; (d) counties in States other than the New England States, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania that have no incorporated municipalities within their boundaries and have a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; and (e) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more. The population not classified as urban constitutes the rural population.

Urbanized areas.--An urbanized area contains at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more and the surrounding closely settled area, whether incorporated or unincorporated, that meets specified criteria relating to land use or population density. There are a few urbanized areas where there are "twin central cities" that have a combined population of at least 50,000.

Census county divisions.--For purposes of presenting census statistics, counties in 18 States have been subdivided into statistical areas, which are called census county divisions (CCD's). These divisions are used instead of the election precincts, townships, and other minor civil divisions for which population statistics were previously reported. The CCD's were established because the boundaries of the minor civil divisions in these States, which were observed in previous censuses, changed frequently or were difficult to identify. CCD's were defined with boundaries that will seldom require changes and that can be easily located.

Places.--The term "place" as used in reports of the population censuses refers to a concentration of population, regardless of the existence of legally prescribed limits, powers, or functions. Most of the places listed are incorporated as cities, towns, villages, or boroughs, however. In addition, unincorporated places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are also presented. The towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania recognized as urban are also counted as places.

Incorporated places.--Political units recognized as incorporated places in the reports of the census are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages with the exception that towns are not recognized as incorporated places in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin.

Unincorporated places.--As in the 1950 Census, the Bureau has delineated boundaries for densely settled population centers without corporate limits. All such places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are shown in tables 2 and 3.

ADVANCE REPORTS

FINAL POPULATION COUNTS

November 23, 1960

PC(A1)-5

Arkansas

(These figures supersede the preliminary counts for the same areas published in the PC(P1) and PC(P2) series of reports. The present series consists of 52 reports--one each for the United States, 50 States, and the District of Columbia--which are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication)

The official population count of the State as of April 1, 1960, was 1,786,272. This is a loss of 123,239, or 6.5 percent, from the 1,909,511 inhabitants of the State in 1950.

This report presents final 1960 Population Census statistics on the number of inhabitants of the State and its counties or comparable areas. In addition, figures are given for minor civil divisions, incorporated or unincorporated places, and for the population of the State and its counties classified by urban-rural residence. Comparable figures from earlier censuses appear in Volume I of the reports of the 1950 Census of Population.

The figures shown here are being issued in advance of their publication in Final Report PC(1)-5A, which will provide additional information on the number and geographic distribution of the inhabitants of this State. The final report will be issued within the next few months.

An outline of the 1960 Population Census publication program may be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D.C., or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

Urban-rural residence.--According to the definition adopted for use in the 1960 Census, the urban population comprises all persons living in (a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, boroughs, villages, and towns (except towns in New England, New York, and Wisconsin); (b) the densely settled urban fringe, whether incorporated or unincorporated, of urbanized areas (see next paragraph); (c) towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania which contain no incorporated municipalities as subdivisions and have either 25,000 inhabitants or more or a population of 2,500 to 25,000 and a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; (d) counties in States other than the New England States, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania that have no incorporated municipalities within their boundaries and have a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; and (e) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more. The population not classified as urban constitutes the rural population.

Urbanized areas.--An urbanized area contains at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more and the surrounding closely settled area, whether incorporated or unincorporated, that meets specified criteria relating to land use or population density. There are a few urbanized areas where there are "twin central cities" that have a combined population of at least 50,000.

Minor civil divisions.--To the primary political divisions into which counties or comparable areas are divided, the Bureau applies the general term "minor civil divisions." From State to State they are known variously as townships, towns, judicial districts, election precincts, and the like. In some States, incorporated places are minor civil divisions in their own right and in other States they are subordinate to the minor civil division in which they are located, or the pattern is mixed--some incorporated places are independent minor civil divisions, and others are subordinate to the minor civil division.

Places.--The term "place" as used in reports of the population censuses refers to a concentration of population, regardless of the existence of legally prescribed limits, powers, or functions. Most of the places listed are incorporated as cities, towns, villages, or boroughs, however. In addition, unincorporated places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are also presented. The towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania recognized as urban are also counted as places.

Incorporated places.--Political units recognized as incorporated places in the reports of the census are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages with the exception that towns are not recognized as incorporated places in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin.

Unincorporated places.--As in the 1950 Census, the Bureau has delineated boundaries for densely settled population centers without corporate limits. All such places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are shown in tables 2 and 3.

ADVANCE REPORTS

FINAL POPULATION COUNTS

December 2, 1960

PC(A1)-6

California

(These figures supersede the preliminary counts for the same areas published in the PC(F1) and PC(F2) series of reports. The present series consists of 52 reports--one each for the United States, 50 States, and the District of Columbia--which are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication)

The official population count of the State, as of April 1, 1960, was 15,717,204. This is a gain of 5,130,981, or 48.5 percent, over the 10,586,223 inhabitants of the State in 1950.

This report presents final 1960 Population Census statistics on the number of inhabitants of the State and its counties or comparable areas. In addition, figures are given for census county divisions, incorporated or unincorporated places, and for the population of the State and its counties classified by urban-rural residence. Comparable figures from earlier censuses appear in Volume I of the reports of the 1950 Census of Population.

The figures shown here are being issued in advance of their publication in Final Report PC(1)-6A, which will provide additional information on the number and geographic distribution of the inhabitants of this State. The final report will be issued within the next few months.

An outline of the 1960 Population Census publication program may be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D.C., or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

Urban-rural residence.--According to the definition adopted for use in the 1960 Census, the urban population comprises all persons living in (a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, boroughs, villages, and towns (except towns in New England, New York, and Wisconsin); (b) the densely settled urban fringes, whether incorporated or unincorporated, of urbanized areas (see next paragraph); (c) towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania which contain no incorporated municipalities as subdivisions and have either 25,000 inhabitants or more or a population of 2,500 to 25,000 and a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; (d) counties in States other than the New England States, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania that have no incorporated municipalities within their boundaries and have a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; and (e) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more. The population not classified as urban constitutes the rural population.

Urbanized areas.--An urbanized area contains at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more and the surrounding closely settled area, whether incorporated or unincorporated, that meets specified criteria relating to land use or population density. There are a few urbanized areas where there are "twin central cities" that have a combined population of at least 50,000.

Census county divisions.--For purposes of presenting census statistics, counties in 18 States have been subdivided into statistical areas, which are called census county divisions (CCD's). These divisions are used instead of the election precincts, townships, and other minor civil divisions for which population statistics were previously reported. The CCD's were established because the boundaries of the minor civil divisions in these States, which were observed in previous censuses, changed frequently or were difficult to identify. CCD's were defined with boundaries that will seldom require changes and that can be easily located.

Places.--The term "place" as used in reports of the population censuses refers to a concentration of population, regardless of the existence of legally prescribed limits, powers, or functions. Most of the places listed are incorporated as cities, towns, villages, or boroughs, however. In addition, unincorporated places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are also presented. The towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania recognized as urban are also counted as places.

Incorporated places.--Political units recognized as incorporated places in the reports of the census are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages with the exception that towns are not recognized as incorporated places in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin.

Unincorporated places.--As in the 1950 Census, the Bureau has delineated boundaries for densely settled population centers without corporate limits. All such places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are shown in tables 2 and 3.

ADVANCE REPORTS

FINAL POPULATION COUNTS

November 15, 1960

PC(A1)-7

Colorado

(These figures supersede the preliminary counts for the same areas published in the PC(P1) and PC(P2) series of reports. The present series consists of 52 reports--one each for the United States, 50 States, and the District of Columbia--which are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication)

The official population count of the State as of April 1, 1960, was 1,753,947. This is a gain of 428,858 or 32.4 percent, over the 1,325,089 inhabitants of the State in 1950.

This report presents final 1960 Population Census statistics on the number of inhabitants of the State and its counties or comparable areas. In addition, figures are given for census county divisions, incorporated or unincorporated places, and for the population of the State and its counties classified by urban-rural residence. Comparable figures from earlier censuses appear in Volume I of the reports of the 1950 Census of Population.

The figures shown here are being issued in advance of their publication in Final Report PC(1)-7A, which will provide additional information on the number and geographic distribution of the inhabitants of this State. The final report will be issued within the next few months.

An outline of the 1960 Population Census publication program may be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D.C., or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

Urban-rural residence.--According to the definition adopted for use in the 1960 Census, the urban population comprises all persons living in (a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, boroughs, villages, and towns (except towns in New England, New York, and Wisconsin); (b) the densely settled urban fringe, whether incorporated or unincorporated, of urbanized areas (see next paragraph); (c) towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania which contain no incorporated municipalities as subdivisions and have either 25,000 inhabitants or more or a population of 2,500 to 25,000 and a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; (d) counties in States other than the New England States, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania that have no incorporated municipalities within their boundaries and have a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; and (e) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more. The population not classified as urban constitutes the rural population.

Urbanized areas.--An urbanized area contains at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more and the surrounding closely settled area, whether incorporated or unincorporated, that meets specified criteria relating to land use or population density. There are a few urbanized areas where there are "twin central cities" that have a combined population of at least 50,000.

Census county divisions.--For purposes of presenting census statistics, counties in 18 States have been subdivided into statistical areas, which are called census county divisions (CCD's). These divisions are used instead of the election precincts, townships, and other minor civil divisions for which population statistics were previously reported. The CCD's were established because the boundaries of the minor civil divisions in these States, which were observed in previous censuses, changed frequently or were difficult to identify. CCD's were defined with boundaries that will seldom require changes and that can be easily located.

Places.--The term "place" as used in reports of the population censuses refers to a concentration of population, regardless of the existence of legally prescribed limits, powers, or functions. Most of the places listed are incorporated as cities, towns, villages, or boroughs, however. In addition, unincorporated places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are also presented. The towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania recognized as urban are also counted as places.

Incorporated places.--Political units recognized as incorporated places in the reports of the census are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages with the exception that towns are not recognized as incorporated places in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin.

Unincorporated places.--As in the 1950 Census, the Bureau has delineated boundaries for densely settled population centers without corporate limits. All such places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are shown in tables 2 and 3.

ADVANCE REPORTS

FINAL POPULATION COUNTS

November 9, 1960

PC(A1)-8

Connecticut

(These figures supersede the preliminary counts for the same areas published in the PC(P1) and PC(P2) series of reports. The present series consists of 52 reports--one each for the United States, 50 States, and the District of Columbia--which are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication)

The official population count of the State as of April 1, 1960, was 2,535,234. This is a gain of 527,954, or 26.3 percent, over the 2,007,280 inhabitants of the State in 1950.

This report presents final 1960 Population Census statistics on the number of inhabitants of the State and its counties or comparable areas. In addition, figures are given for minor civil divisions, incorporated or unincorporated places, and for the population of the State and its counties classified by urban-rural residence. Comparable figures from earlier censuses appear in Volume I of the reports of the 1950 Census of Population.

The figures shown here are being issued in advance of their publication in Final Report PC(1)-8A, which will provide additional information on the number and geographic distribution of the inhabitants of this State. The final report will be issued within the next few months.

An outline of the 1960 Population Census publication program may be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D.C., or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

Urban-rural residence.--According to the definition adopted for use in the 1960 Census, the urban population comprises all persons living in (a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, boroughs, villages, and towns (except towns in New England, New York, and Wisconsin); (b) the densely settled urban fringe, whether incorporated or unincorporated, of urbanized areas (see next paragraph); (c) towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania which contain no incorporated municipalities as subdivisions and have either 25,000 inhabitants or more or a population of 2,500 to 25,000 and a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; (d) counties in States other than the New England States, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania that have no incorporated municipalities within their boundaries and have a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; and (e) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more. The population not classified as urban constitutes the rural population.

Urbanized areas.--An urbanized area contains at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more and the surrounding closely settled area, whether incorporated or unincorporated, that meets specified criteria relating to land use or population density. There are a few urbanized areas where there are "twin central cities" that have a combined population of at least 50,000.

Minor civil divisions.--To the primary political divisions into which counties or comparable areas are divided, the Bureau applies the general term "minor civil divisions." From State to State they are known variously as townships, towns, judicial districts, election precincts, and the like. In some States, incorporated places are minor civil divisions in their own right and in other States they are subordinate to the minor civil division in which they are located, or the pattern is mixed--some incorporated places are independent minor civil divisions, and others are subordinate to the minor civil division.

Places.--The term "place" as used in reports of the population censuses refers to a concentration of population, regardless of the existence of legally prescribed limits, powers, or functions. Most of the places listed are incorporated as cities, towns, villages, or boroughs, however. In addition, unincorporated places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are also presented. The towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania recognized as urban are also counted as places.

Incorporated places.--Political units recognized as incorporated places in the reports of the census are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages with the exception that towns are not recognized as incorporated places in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin.

Unincorporated places.--As in the 1950 Census, the Bureau has delineated boundaries for densely settled population centers without corporate limits. All such places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are shown in tables 2 and 3.

1960 Census of Population

ADVANCE REPORTS

FINAL POPULATION COUNTS

October 1960

Delaware

(These figures supersede the preliminary counts for the same areas published in the PC(P1) and PC(P2) series of reports. The present series consists of 52 reports--one each for the United States, 50 States, and the District of Columbia--which are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication)

The official population count of the State as of April 1, 1960, was 446,292. This is a gain of 128,207, or 40.3 percent, over the 318,085 inhabitants of the State in 1950.

This report presents final 1960 Population Census statistics on the number of inhabitants of the State and its counties or comparable areas. In addition, figures are given for minor civil divisions, incorporated or unincorporated places, and for the population of the State and its counties classified by urban-rural residence. Comparable figures from earlier censuses appear in Volume I of the reports of the 1950 Census of Population.

The figures shown here are being issued in advance of their publication in Final Report PC(1)-9A, which will provide additional information on the number and geographic distribution of the inhabitants of this State. The final report will be issued within the next few months.

An outline of the 1960 Population Census publication program may be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D.C., or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

Urban-rural residence.--According to the definition adopted for use in the 1960 Census, the urban population comprises all persons living in (a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, boroughs, villages, and towns (except towns in New England, New York, and Wisconsin); (b) the densely settled urban fringe, whether incorporated or unincorporated, of urbanized areas (see next paragraph); (c) towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania which contain no incorporated municipalities as subdivisions and have either 25,000 inhabitants or more or a population of 2,500 to 25,000 and a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; (d) counties in States other than the New England States, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania that have no incorporated municipalities within their boundaries and have a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; and (e) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more. The population not classified as urban constitutes the rural population.

Urbanized areas.--An urbanized area contains at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more and the surrounding closely settled area, whether incorporated or unincorporated, that meets specified criteria relating to land use or population density. There are a few urbanized areas where there are "twin central cities" that have a combined population of at least 50,000.

Minor civil divisions.--To the primary political divisions into which counties or comparable areas are divided, the Bureau applies the general term "minor civil divisions." From State to State they are known variously as townships, towns, judicial districts, election precincts, and the like. In some States, incorporated places are minor civil divisions in their own right and in other States they are subordinate to the minor civil division in which they are located, or the pattern is mixed--some incorporated places are independent minor civil divisions, and others are subordinate to the minor civil division.

Places.--The term "place" as used in reports of the population censuses refers to a concentration of population, regardless of the existence of legally prescribed limits, powers, or functions. Most of the places listed are incorporated as cities, towns, villages, or boroughs, however. In addition, unincorporated places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are also presented. The towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania recognized as urban are also counted as places.

Incorporated places.--Political units recognized as incorporated places in the reports of the census are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages with the exception that towns are not recognized as incorporated places in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin.

Unincorporated places.--As in the 1950 Census, the Bureau has delineated boundaries for densely settled population centers without corporate limits. All such places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are shown in tables 2 and 3.

1960 Census of Population

ADVANCE REPORTS

FINAL POPULATION COUNTS

October 1960

District of Columbia

(These figures supersede the preliminary counts for the same areas published in the PC(P1) and PC(P2) series of reports. The present series consists of 52 reports--one each for the United States, 50 States, and the District of Columbia--which are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication)

The official population count of the District of Columbia as of April 1, 1960, was 763,956. This is a loss of 38,222, or 4.8 percent, from the 802,178 inhabitants of the District in 1950. This report presents final 1960 Population Census statistics on the number of inhabitants of the District by police precincts and quadrants. The figures shown here are being issued in advance of their publication in Final Report PC(1)-10A, which will be issued within the next few months. An outline of the 1960 Population Census publication program may be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D.C., or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

use or population density. There are a few urbanized areas where there are "twin central cities" that have a combined population of at least 50,000.

Census county divisions.--For purposes of presenting census statistics, counties in 18 States have been subdivided into statistical areas, which are called census county divisions (CCD's). These divisions are used instead of the election precincts, townships, and other minor civil divisions for which population statistics were previously reported. The CCD's were established because the boundaries of the minor civil divisions in these States, which were observed in previous censuses, changed frequently or were difficult to identify. CCD's were defined with boundaries that will seldom require changes and that can be easily located.

Places.--The term "place" as used in reports of the population censuses refers to a concentration of population, regardless of the existence of legally prescribed limits, powers, or functions. Most of the places listed are incorporated as cities, towns, villages, or boroughs, however. In addition, unincorporated places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are also presented. The towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania recognized as urban are also counted as places.

Incorporated places.--Political units recognized as incorporated places in the reports of the census are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages with the exception that towns are not recognized as incorporated places in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin.

Unincorporated places.--As in the 1950 Census, the Bureau has delineated boundaries for densely settled population centers without corporate limits. All such places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are shown in tables 2 and 3.

ADVANCE REPORTS

FINAL POPULATION COUNTS

December 2, 1960

PC(A1)-12

Georgia

(These figures supersede the preliminary counts for the same areas published in the PC(P1) and PC(P2) series of reports. The present series consists of 52 reports--one each for the United States, 50 States, and the District of Columbia--which are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication)

The official population count of the State as of April 1, 1960, was 3,943,116. This is a gain of 498,538, or 14.5 percent, over the 3,444,578 inhabitants of the State in 1950.

This report presents final 1960 Population Census statistics on the number of inhabitants of the State and its counties or comparable areas. In addition, figures are given for census county divisions, incorporated or unincorporated places, and for the population of the State and its counties classified by urban-rural residence. Comparable figures from earlier censuses appear in Volume I of the reports of the 1950 Census of Population.

The figures shown here are being issued in advance of their publication in Final Report PC(1)-12A, which will provide additional information on the number and geographic distribution of the inhabitants of this State. The final report will be issued within the next few months.

An outline of the 1960 Population Census publication program may be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D.C., or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

Urban-rural residence.--According to the definition adopted for use in the 1960 Census, the urban population comprises all persons living in (a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, boroughs, villages, and towns (except towns in New England, New York, and Wisconsin); (b) the densely settled urban fringe, whether incorporated or unincorporated, of urbanized areas (see next paragraph); (c) towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania which contain no incorporated municipalities as subdivisions and have either 25,000 inhabitants or more or a population of 2,500 to 25,000 and a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; (d) counties in States other than the New England States, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania that have no incorporated municipalities within their boundaries and have a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; and (e) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more. The population not classified as urban constitutes the rural population.

Urbanized areas.--An urbanized area contains at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more and the surrounding closely settled area, whether incorporated or unincorporated, that meets specified criteria relating to land use or population density. There are a few urbanized areas where there are "twin central cities" that have a combined population of at least 50,000.

Census county divisions.--For purposes of presenting census statistics, counties in 18 States have been subdivided into statistical areas, which are called census county divisions (CCD's). These divisions are used instead of the election precincts, townships, and other minor civil divisions for which population statistics were previously reported. The CCD's were established because the boundaries of the minor civil divisions in these States, which were observed in previous censuses, changed frequently or were difficult to identify. CCD's were defined with boundaries that will seldom require changes and that can be easily located.

Places.--The term "place" as used in reports of the population censuses refers to a concentration of population, regardless of the existence of legally prescribed limits, powers, or functions. Most of the places listed are incorporated as cities, towns, villages, or boroughs, however. In addition, unincorporated places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are also presented. The towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania recognized as urban are also counted as places.

Incorporated places.--Political units recognized as incorporated places in the reports of the census are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages with the exception that towns are not recognized as incorporated places in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin.

Unincorporated places.--As in the 1950 Census, the Bureau has delineated boundaries for densely settled population centers without corporate limits. All such places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are shown in tables 2 and 3.

ADVANCE REPORTS

FINAL POPULATION COUNTS

November 10, 1960

PC(A1)-13

Hawaii

(These figures supersede the preliminary counts for the same areas published in the PC(F1) and PC(F2) series of reports. The present series consists of 52 reports--one each for the United States, 50 States, and the District of Columbia--which are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication)

The official population count of the State as of April 1, 1960, was 632,772. This is a gain of 132,978, or 26.6 percent, over the 499,794 inhabitants of the State in 1950.

This report presents final 1960 Population Census statistics on the number of inhabitants of the State and its counties or comparable areas. In addition, figures are given for census county divisions, incorporated or unincorporated places, and for the population of the State and its counties classified by urban-rural residence. Comparable figures from earlier censuses appear in Volume I of the reports of the 1950 Census of Population.

The figures shown here are being issued in advance of their publication in Final Report PC(1)-13A, which will provide additional information on the number and geographic distribution of the inhabitants of this State. The final report will be issued within the next few months.

An outline of the 1960 Population Census publication program may be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D.C., or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

Urban-rural residence.--According to the definition adopted for use in the 1960 Census, the urban population comprises all persons living in (a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, boroughs, villages, and towns (except towns in New England, New York, and Wisconsin); (b) the densely settled urban fringe, whether incorporated or unincorporated, of urbanized areas (see next paragraph); (c) towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania which contain no incorporated municipalities as subdivisions and have either 25,000 inhabitants or more or a population of 2,500 to 25,000 and a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; (d) counties in States other than the New England States, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania that have no incorporated municipalities within their boundaries and have a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; and (e) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more. The population not classified as urban constitutes the rural population.

Urbanized areas.--An urbanized area contains at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more and the surrounding closely settled area, whether incorporated or unincorporated, that meets specified criteria relating to land use or population density. There are a few urbanized areas where there are "twin central cities" that have a combined population of at least 50,000.

Census county divisions.--For purposes of presenting census statistics, counties in 18 States have been subdivided into statistical areas, which are called census county divisions (CCD's). These divisions are used instead of the election precincts, townships, and other minor civil divisions for which population statistics were previously reported. The CCD's were established because the boundaries of the minor civil divisions in these States, which were observed in previous censuses, changed frequently or were difficult to identify. CCD's were defined with boundaries that will seldom require changes and that can be easily located.

Places.--The term "place" as used in reports of the population censuses refers to a concentration of population, regardless of the existence of legally prescribed limits, powers, or functions. Most of the places listed are incorporated as cities, towns, villages, or boroughs, however. In addition, unincorporated places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are also presented. The towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania recognized as urban are also counted as places.

Incorporated places.--Political units recognized as incorporated places in the reports of the census are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages with the exception that towns are not recognized as incorporated places in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin.

Unincorporated places.--As in the 1950 Census, the Bureau has delineated boundaries for densely settled population centers without corporate limits. All such places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are shown in tables 2 and 3.

ADVANCE REPORTS

FINAL POPULATION COUNTS

October 1960

PC(A1)-14

Idaho

(These figures supersede the preliminary counts for the same areas published in the PC(P1) and PC(P2) series of reports. The present series consists of 52 reports--one each for the United States, 50 States, and the District of Columbia--which are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication)

The official population count of the State as of April 1, 1960, was 667,191. This is a gain of 78,554, or 13.3 percent, over the 588,637 inhabitants of the State in 1950.

This report presents final 1960 Population Census statistics on the number of inhabitants of the State and its counties or comparable areas. In addition, figures are given for census county divisions, incorporated or unincorporated places, and for the population of the State and its counties classified by urban-rural residence. Comparable figures from earlier censuses appear in Volume I of the reports of the 1950 Census of Population.

The figures shown here are being issued in advance of their publication in Final Report PC(1)-14A, which will provide additional information on the number and geographic distribution of the inhabitants of this State. The final report will be issued within the next few months.

An outline of the 1960 Population Census publication program may be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D.C., or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

Urban-rural residence.--According to the definition adopted for use in the 1960 Census, the urban population comprises all persons living in (a) places of 2,500 inhabitants or more incorporated as cities, boroughs, villages, and towns (except towns in New England, New York, and Wisconsin); (b) the densely settled urban fringe, whether incorporated or unincorporated, of urbanized areas (see next paragraph); (c) towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania which contain no incorporated municipalities as subdivisions and have either 25,000 inhabitants or more or a population of 2,500 to 25,000 and a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; (d) counties in States other than the New England States, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania that have no incorporated municipalities within their boundaries and have a density of 1,500 persons or more per square mile; and (e) unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants or more. The population not classified as urban constitutes the rural population.

Urbanized areas.--An urbanized area contains at least one city of 50,000 inhabitants or more and the surrounding closely settled area, whether incorporated or unincorporated, that meets specified criteria relating to land use or population density. There are a few urbanized areas where there are "twin central cities" that have a combined population of at least 50,000.

Census county divisions.--For purposes of presenting census statistics, counties in 18 States have been subdivided into statistical areas, which are called census county divisions (CCD's). These divisions are used instead of the election precincts, townships, and other minor civil divisions for which population statistics were previously reported. The CCD's were established because the boundaries of the minor civil divisions in these States, which were observed in previous censuses, changed frequently or were difficult to identify. CCD's were defined with boundaries that will seldom require changes and that can be easily located.

Places.--The term "place" as used in reports of the population censuses refers to a concentration of population, regardless of the existence of legally prescribed limits, powers, or functions. Most of the places listed are incorporated as cities, towns, villages, or boroughs, however. In addition, unincorporated places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are also presented. The towns in New England and townships in New Jersey and Pennsylvania recognized as urban are also counted as places.

Incorporated places.--Political units recognized as incorporated places in the reports of the census are those which are incorporated as cities, boroughs, towns, and villages with the exception that towns are not recognized as incorporated places in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin.

Unincorporated places.--As in the 1950 Census, the Bureau has delineated boundaries for densely settled population centers without corporate limits. All such places of 1,000 inhabitants or more are shown in tables 2 and 3.
