PRELIMINARY
REPORTS

Population Counts for Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas

(This report is based on preliminary counts of the population as compiled in the 1970 census field offices. The series consists of one report for each of the 233 standard metropolitan statistical areas currently recognized by the U.S. Bureau of the Budget. The reports for the 230 SMSA's in the United States are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication, as are reports numbered 231 through 233 for the three SMSA's in Puerto Rico.)

As of April 1, 1970, the population of the standard metropolitan statistical area was 374,410, according to a preliminary count of the returns of the 1970 census. This figure represents an increase of 175,272, or 88.0 percent, from the 199,138 inhabitants enumerated in the 1960 census.

The preliminary figures presented here will be superseded by the final counts to be shown in report Series PC(V1) and PC(1)-A which will be issued later this year. The final figures may differ from the preliminary counts for a number of reasons.

An outline of the 1970 census publication program can be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C. 20233, or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

(This report is based on preliminary counts of the population as compiled in the 1970 census field offices. The series consists of one report for each of the 233 standard metropolitan statistical areas, currently recognized by the U.S. Bureau of the Budget. The reports for the 230 SMSA's in the United States are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication, as are reports numbered 231 through 233 for the three SMSA's in Puerto Rico.)

As of April 1, 1970, the population of the standard metropolitan statistical area was 992,593, according to a preliminary count of the returns of the 1970 census. This figure represents an increase of 170,696, or 20.8 percent, from the 821,897 inhabitants enumerated in the 1960 census.

The preliminary figures presented here will be superseded by the final counts to be shown in report Series PC(V1) and PC(1)-A which will be issued later this year. The final figures may differ from the preliminary counts for a number of reasons.

An outline of the 1970 census publication program can be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C. 20233, or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

PRELIMINARY

Population Counts for Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas

(This report is based on preliminary counts of the population as compiled in the 1970 census field offices. The series consists of one report for each of the 233 standard metropolitan statistical areas currently recognized by the U.S. Bureau of the Budget. The reports for the 230 SMSA's in the United States are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication, as are reports numbered 231 through 233 for the three SMSA's in Puerto Rico.)

As of April 1, 1970, the population of the standard metropolitan statistical area was 875,636, according to a preliminary count of the returns of the 1970 census. This figure represents an increase of 143,048, or 19.5 percent, from the 732,588 inhabitants enumerated in the 1960 census.

The preliminary figures presented here will be superseded by the final counts to be shown in report Series PC(V1) and PC(1)-A which will be issued later this year. The final figures may differ from the preliminary counts for a number of reasons.

An outline of the 1970 census publication program can be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C. 20233, or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

PRELIMINARY

Population Counts for Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas

(This report is based on preliminary counts of the population as compiled in the 1970 census field offices. The series consists of one report for each of the 233 standard metropolitan statistical areas currently recognized by the U.S. Bureau of the Budget. The reports for the 230 SMSA's in the United States are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication, as are reports numbered 231 through 233 for the three SMSA's in Puerto Rico.)

As of April 1, 1970, the population of the standard metropolitan statistical area was 1,122,041, according to a preliminary count of the returns of the 1970 census. This figure represents an increase of 312,259, or 38.6 percent, from the 809,782 inhabitants enumerated in the 1960 census.

The preliminary figures presented here will be superseded by the final counts to be shown in report Series PC(V1) and PC(1)-A which will be issued later this year. The final figures may differ from the preliminary counts for a number of reasons.

An outline of the 1970 census publication program can be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C. 20233, or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

Population Counts for Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas

(This report is based on preliminary counts of the population as compiled in the 1970 census field offices. The series consists of one report for each of the 233 standard metropolitan statistical areas currently recognized by the U.S. Bureau of the Budget. The reports for the 230 SMSA's in the United States are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication, as are reports numbered 231 through 233 for the three SMSA's in Puerto Rico.)

As of April 1, 1970, the population of the standard metropolitan statistical area was 94,308, according to a preliminary count of the returns of the 1970 census. This figure represents an increase of 7,958, or 9.2 percent, from the 86,350 inhabitants enumerated in the 1960 census.

The preliminary figures presented here will be superseded by the final counts to be shown in report Series PC(V1) and PC(1)-A which will be issued later this year. The final figures may differ from the preliminary counts for a number of reasons.

An outline of the 1970 census publication program can be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C. 20233, or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

REPORTS

Population Counts for Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas

(This report is based on preliminary counts of the population as compiled in the 1970 census field offices. The series consists of one report for each of the 233 standard metropolitan statistical areas currently recognized by the U.S. Bureau of the Budget. The reports for the 230 SMSA's in the United States are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication, as are reports numbered 231 through 233 for the three SMSA's in Puerto Rico.)

As of April 1, 1970, the population of the standard metropolitan statistical area was 2,340,421, according to a preliminary count of the returns of the 1970 census. This figure represents an increase of 235,752, or 11.2 percent, from the 2,104,669 inhabitants enumerated in the 1960 census.

The preliminary figures presented here will be superseded by the final counts to be shown in report Series PC(V1) and PC(1)-A which will be issued later this year. The final figures may differ from the preliminary counts for a number of reasons.

An outline of the 1970 census publication program can be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C. 20233, or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

(This report is based on preliminary counts of the population as compiled in the 1970 census field offices. The series consists of one report for each of the 233 standard metropolitan statistical areas currently recognized by the U.S. Bureau of the Budget. The reports for the 230 SMSA's in the United States are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication, as are reports numbered 231 through 233 for the three SMSA's in Puerto Rico.)

As of April 1, 1970, the population of the standard metropolitan statistical area was 1,057,032, according to a preliminary count of the returns of the 1970 census. This figure represents an increase of 414,717, or 64.6 percent, from the 642,315 inhabitants enumerated in the 1960 census.

The preliminary figures presented here will be superseded by the final counts to be shown in report Series PC(V1) and PC(1)-A which will be issued later this year. The final figures may differ from the preliminary counts for a number of reasons.

An outline of the 1970 census publication program can be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C. 20233, or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

Population Counts for Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas

(This report is based on preliminary counts of the population as compiled in the 1970 census field offices. The series consists of one report for each of the 233 standard metropolitan statistical areas currently recognized by the U.S. Bureau of the Budget. The reports for the 230 SMSA's in the United States are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication, as are reports numbered 231 through 233 for the three SMSA's in Puerto Rico.)

As of April 1, 1970, the population of the standard metropolitan statistical area was 151,681, according to a preliminary count of the returns of the 1970 census. This figure represents an increase of 25,405, or 20.1 percent, from the 126,276 inhabitants enumerated in the 1960 census.

The preliminary figures presented here will be superseded by the final counts to be shown in report Series PC(V1) and PC(1)-A which will be issued later this year. The final figures may differ from the preliminary counts for a number of reasons.

An outline of the 1970 census publication program can be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C. 20233, or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.

PRELIMINARY

Population Counts for Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas

(This report is based on preliminary counts of the population as compiled in the 1970 census field offices. The series consists of one report for each of the 233 standard metropolitan statistical areas currently recognized by the U.S. Bureau of the Budget. The reports for the 230 SMSA's in the United States are numbered in alphabetical order rather than in order of publication, as are reports numbered 231 through 233 for the three SMSA's in Puerto Rico.)

As of April 1, 1970, the population of the standard metropolitan statistical area was 103,556, according to a preliminary count of the returns of the 1970 census. This figure represents an increase of 11,536, or 12.5 percent, from the 92,020 inhabitants enumerated in the 1960 census.

The preliminary figures presented here will be superseded by the final counts to be shown in report Series PC(V1) and PC(1)-A which will be issued later this year. The final figures may differ from the preliminary counts for a number of reasons.

An outline of the 1970 census publication program can be obtained free of charge from the Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C. 20233, or any U.S. Department of Commerce Field Office.
