GENERAL

This report presents statistics comparing changes in occupation, industry, and State of residence between 1965 and 1970, cross-classified by various social and economic characteristics. The data are based on the 1970 Census of Population. Legal provision for this census, which was conducted as of April 1, 1970, was made in the Act of Congress of August 31, 1954 (amended August 1957), which codified Title 13, United States Code.

A major portion of the information compiled from the 1970 Census of Population appears in Volume I, Characteristics of the Population, which focuses on the presentation of data for States, counties, places, and other areas of the United States. The present report is part of Volume II, Subject Reports, which concentrates on the presentation of national and regional data for a particular subject. A list of Volume II subject reports from the 1970 census is presented on page II. For a description of Volumes I and II, as well as other elements of the data dissemination program of the 1970 Population and Housing Census, see Appendix E, "Publication and Computer Summary Tape Program."

The content and procedures of the 1970 census were determined after evaluation of the results of the 1960 census, consultation with a wide variety of users of census data, and extensive field pretesting. A number of changes were introduced in 1970 to improve the usefulness of the census results.

More detailed information on the technical and procedural matters covered in the text of this report can be obtained by writing to the Director, Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C. 20233. Such information will also appear in later reports of the 1970 census.

Organization of the text.—The text consists of this introduction and Appendixes A through E, which appear after the tables. The introduction contains information relating specifically to the principal subject of this report, such as definitions of terms and editing procedures. Appendix A provides general information concerning the presentation of data in this series of reports and the collection and processing procedures of the 1970 census. Appendix B describes the various area classifications (e.g., urban and rural residence, urbanized areas, etc.) and also explains the residence rules used in counting the population. Appendix C provides brief definitions and explanations of subjects covered in cross-classifications in this report and other reports in this series. Appendix D presents information on sources of error in the data, sampling variability, ratio estimation, and editing procedures. Appendix E summarizes the data dissemination program.

Content of the tables.—Fourteen tables constitute this report. Tables 1 through 6 relate changes in major occupation group between 1965 and 1970 to age, sex, race, Spanish origin, years of school completed, earnings in 1969, and interstate migration between 1965 and 1970. Tables 7 through 11 relate changes in major industry group between 1965 and 1970 to age, sex, race, Spanish origin, earnings in 1969, and interstate migration between 1965 and 1970. Table 12 compares major industry group as well as major occupation group in 1965 and 1970. Tables 13 and 14 present data on labor mobility and occupational mobility according to sex, marital status, and interstate migration.

Sample size.—The statistics presented in this report are based on a 5-percent sample adjusted to represent the total population. An explanation of the ratio estimation procedure and information on the sampling variability associated with the data are contained in Appendix D.

RELATED MATERIALS

1970 census reports.—Chapters C and D for each State part of 1970 Census of Population, Volume I, Characteristics of the Population, contain statistics on occupation and industry in 1970 and migration status during the 1965-70 period. In addition, chapter D contains statistics on major occupation group in 1965 and 1970 and State of residence in 1965 and 1970. These statistics are summed to national totals in the Volume I, Part 1, "United States Summary" report, chapters C and D. The 1970 census was the first census to include a question on occupation and industry 5 years earlier.

Volume II reports which focus mainly on occupation and industry include PC(2)-7A, Occupational Characteristics; PC(2)-7B, Industrial Characteristics; and PC(2)-7C, Occupation by Industry. Volume II reports dealing primarily with migration include PC(2)-2A, State of Birth; PC(2)-2B, Mobility for States and the Nation; PC(2)-2C, Mobility for Metropolitan Areas; PC(2)-2D, Lifetime and Recent Migration; and PC(2)-2E, Migration Between State Economic Areas. Additional statistics on occupation, industry, and migration may be found in a few other Volume II reports.

Unpublished data.—For most of the Volume II reports, statistics in addition to those published in the report are available on a reimbursable basis from computer tape files. Data shown for the United States as a whole are available for regions, divisions, and States, and, in a number of instances, the data for some characteristics were tabulated in greater detail than shown in the reports. Requests for unpublished data, giving a specific description of the figures desired, should be made in writing to the Director, Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C. 20233. Inquiries concerning unpublished data should be transmitted to the Bureau as soon as possible since tape files are not maintained indefinitely.

DEFINITIONS AND EXPLANATIONS OF PRINCIPAL SUBJECTS

The definitions and explanations below relate only to the principal subjects of this report. Brief definitions of other items that appear in cross-classifications in the tables of this report are presented in Appendix C.

Occupation and Industry

The data on current occupation and industry were obtained from answers to questions 33 to 35 (see facsimile of items below). These questions were asked of all persons 14 years old and over who worked at any time since 1960.

33-35. Current or most recent job activity

Describe clearly this person's chief job activity or business last week, if any. If he had more than one job, describe the one at which he worked the most hours. If this person had no job or business last week, give information for last job or business since 1960.

33. Industry

a. For whom did he work? If now on active duty in the Armed Forces, print "AF" and skip to question 37.

(Name of company, business, organization, or other employer)

b. What kind of business or industry was this?
Describe activity at location where employed.

(For example: junior high school, retail supermarket, dairy farm, TV and radio service, auto assembly plant, road construction)

c. Is this mainly— (Fill one circle)

Manufacturing Retail trade
 Wholesale trade Other (agriculture, construction, service, government, etc.)

34. Occupation

a. What kind of work was he doing?

(For example: TV repairman, sewing machine operator, spray painter, civil engineer, farm operator, farm hand, junior high English teacher)

b. What were his most important activities or duties?

(For example: Types, keeps account books, files, sells cars, operates printing press, cleans buildings, finishes concrete)

c. What was his job title?

35. Was this person— (Fill one circle)

Employee of private company, business, or individual, for wages, salary, or commissions...

Federal government employee

State government employee.....

Local government employee (city, county, etc.)...

Self-employed in own business, professional practice, or farm—

Own business not incorporated

Own business incorporated

Working without pay in family business or farm

The written occupation and industry descriptions from the questionnaire were converted to identifying codes by relating these descriptions to an entry in the 1970 Census of Population, Alphabetical Index of Industries and Occupations, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C., 1971. For the industrial code, however, the first coding attempt was by reference to the Company Name List. This list, prepared from the master address file of the 1967 Censuses of Business, Construction Industries, Manufactures, and Mineral Industries, contains the name of the establishment and its Standard Industrial Code converted to the equivalent code in the population census industrial classification system. This listing facilitates coding and helps maintain industrial classification comparability.

Occupation and industry classification systems.—The occupation classification system developed for the 1970 census consists of 441 specific occupation categories arranged into 12 major groups. For this report 10 groups are shown. The two farm worker major groups and the two service worker major groups are each shown as one category. The detailed occupations included in each of the 12 major groups are shown in list A. The occupational classification system of the population census is generally comparable with the system used in the Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT) with the exception of the blue collar workers.¹ The DOT structure for these occupations is quite different from that used by the Bureau of the Census, largely because the two systems are designed to meet different needs and to be used under different circumstances. The DOT system is basically a job-defining scheme and is more detailed than the system used by the Bureau of the Census, which is data collection oriented. Thus, job classification by DOT often requires more detailed information than is obtained on the census questionnaires.

The industry classification system developed for the 1970 census consists of 227 categories classified into 12 major groups. For this report "Mining" is combined with "Agriculture, forestry, and fisheries"; "Durable goods and nondurable goods manufacturing" is shown separately; "Personal services" is combined with "Business and repair services"; and "Entertainment and recreation services" is combined with "Professional and related services." These modifications netted 10 categories which are presented in the tables. List B shows the detailed industries included in each of the 12 major groups. Each industry group is defined in terms of the Standard Industrial Classification (SIC)², i.e., the numbers in parentheses after each of the group titles.

The Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) was developed under the sponsorship of the Office of Management and Budget and is designed for the classification of establishments by type of industrial activity in which they are engaged. One of the major purposes of the SIC is to promote uniformity and comparability in the presentation of statistical data collected by various agencies. Accordingly, in the 1970 Census of Population, the industry categories are defined in these terms. However, census reports, which are collected from households, differ in nature and detail from those obtained from establishment reports. Therefore, the census classification systems, though defined in SIC terms, cannot reflect the full detail in all categories. Moreover, there is an important distinction between the census and SIC classification of government establishments. The census system distributes all activities into their respective industrial categories regardless of whether government-operated or not. The SIC, however, incorporates all government-related activities, regardless of the industry, in government categories 91 to 94. The SIC does allow for some industrial detail (two-digit) within this framework. Thus, uniquely governmental activities, e.g., judicial and legislative, are identified by code 90 in the third and fourth digits. This is the equivalent of the industry "Public administration" in the census.

The census identifies all government workers in its "class of worker" item (item 35). This identification allows for cross-classification with industry data, thus providing the full array of industry categories in both government and nongovernment terms.

Additional information on the industry classification system, as well as the occupation classification, is presented in the publication 1970 Census of Population, Classified Index of Industries and Occupations, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C., 1971.

Special edit and allocation procedures.—A factor to be considered in the interpretation of these data is that occasionally respondents returned occupation or industry designations which were not sufficiently specific for precise classification. Many such cases were corrected through the field editing process and during the coding and editing operations. In the coding operation certain types of incomplete entries or errors were corrected using the Alphabetical Index of Industries and Occupations. The Index, besides providing a code for each occupation or industry, also reflects some restrictions such as occupations that occur only within one industry. Moreover, in certain situations, it provides for the assignment of an industry code on the basis of the occupation reported.

Following the coding operation, there was a computer edit and allocation process. The edit first determined whether a respondent was in the universe which required an occupation and industry code. For those with an incomplete code or one for which no valid category exists (impossible codes), a valid code was assigned. The items (industry and occupation) were then edited for internal consistency. For example, the occupation "Buyers, wholesale and retail trade" was required to have one of the wholesale or retail trade industry codes. If it did not, the industry code was changed to "Not specified retail trade."

If one or more of the occupation or industry items were blank after edit, the respondent was "allocated" to a major group on the basis of sex, age, farm or nonfarm residence, education, and weeks worked. Additional information on edit and allocation procedures is presented in Appendix D, "Accuracy of the Data." Occupation and industry in 1965 were not allocated.

Activity in 1965

The data on "activity in 1965" were derived from answers to question 37

(see facsimile of questionnaire item below).

This question was asked of all persons 14 years old and over in the 15- and 5-percent samples. The information obtained is presented in this report in connection with statistics on residence in 1965 and statistics on occupational and industrial mobility.

Occupation and Industry in 1965

The data on occupation and industry in 1965 were derived from answers to question 38 (see facsimile below).

This question, relating to industry, occupation, and class of worker in 1965, was asked of persons in the 5-percent sample who answered "Yes" to "Working at a job or business" in item 37.

Tests have shown that the number of persons who were reported as working in 1965, and therefore the number of persons reporting an occupation in 1965, is probably understated to some extent since there is a tendency for respondents to forget intermittent or short periods of employment. There are also indications that, because of failure of the respondent to recall accurately, the responses on occupation and industry in 1965 are subject to greater error than those on current occupation and industry. Therefore, the occupational and industrial classification in 1965 presented in this report is restricted to the major groups.

State of Residence in 1965

The data on State of residence in 1965 were derived from the answers to question 36 (see facsimile of questionnaire item below).

The question was asked of all persons 14 years old and over in the 5-percent sample. The respondent was

36. In April 1965, what State did this person live in? <input type="radio"/> This State OR (Name of State or foreign country; or Puerto Rico, etc.)
37. In April 1965, was this person— (Fill three circles) a. Working at a job or business (full or part-time)? <input type="radio"/> Yes <input type="radio"/> No b. In the Armed Forces? <input type="radio"/> Yes <input type="radio"/> No c. Attending college? <input type="radio"/> Yes <input type="radio"/> No 38. If "Yes" for "Working at a job or business" in question 37— Describe this person's chief activity or business in April 1965. a. What kind of business or industry was this? ----- b. What kind of work was he doing (occupation)? ----- c. asked to mark "This State" if his State of residence at the time of the 1970 enumeration was the same as in April 1965. Otherwise the name of the State or foreign country of residence in 1965 was to be entered. In this report the data were used to provide information on geographic mobility cross-tabulated with occupational mobility for the period 1965 to 1970. The number of persons who were living in a different State in 1970 and 1965 is somewhat less than the total number of moves during the 5 years. Some persons in the same State at the two dates had moved to another State during the 5-year period but by the time of enumeration had returned to their 1965 State of residence. In addition, other persons made moves within the State.

Editing of nonresponse to questions on State of residence in 1965 was somewhat different in the 5- and 15-percent samples. In the 5-percent sample, persons failing to report State of residence in 1965 were allocated to "Abroad in 1965" if they reported having immigrated to the United States since 1965 in response to question 16, asked only in the 5-percent sample. Among other persons in the 5-percent sample failing to report State of residence in 1965, one-half were allocated to "Same State" and one-half were allocated to "Different State." For the 15-percent sample, persons failing to report residence in 1965 were allocated to "Same house" or "Moved, residence in 1965 not reported," based on answers to question 18, asked only in the 15-percent sample, on year moved into present house.

In processing the 5-percent sample data, the ability to identify persons allocated to "Same State" was not retained. Because of the inclusion of allocated cases, this category is greater for the 5-percent sample than the 15-percent sample. In this report, however, "Different State" does not include the persons allocated to this category and therefore should agree, within sampling variability, with the 15-percent sample data.

This treatment of data on interstate migration in the present report is slightly different from procedures used in tabulating data in tables on migration from the 5-percent sample in chapter D of Volume I, Characteristics of the Population. In these tables, the category "Different State" includes persons allocated to this category as well as persons abroad in 1965.
